➤ Making a Suicide Intervention

Course Outline

Suicide is preventable. Making a Suicide Intervention gives people the skills and confidence to intervene and engage a person at risk of suicide, and keep them safe until help arrives.

Led by an expert Samaritans facilitator and using a variety of tools to encourage interaction and group learning, Making a Suicide Intervention is a one-day course (available online or in-person) that is highly beneficial to organisations looking to develop their suicide prevention strategies, as well suitable for staff who work in suicide-risk locations.
